Scholarship Background

Born on March 9th, 1984 in Greensboro, NC, Brandon Dwight Blue (known affectionately among family and friends as “Blue”) made an immediate impact on everyone that he crossed paths with. Most known for being a fun, loving, and caring young man, there was not much that he would not do for others...even if that meant going without himself. Brandon was very well known and embraced in the community for his humorous behavior and large appetite. Brandon had a constant desire to keep those around him smiling regardless of what was going on in their lives and even his own.

In the late 1990’s, Brandon became a student at the illustrious James B. Dudley High School. It was here that Brandon sought to encourage his friends and peers alike to pursue high academic standards and continue to chase their dreams. During this time is when Brandon was able to cultivate relationships with others that would impact their lives forever.

In the community, Brandon served on the usher board at his church where he carried the reputation of being a sympathetic member who cared about others. In addition, Brandon was a member of the youth choir as well as the youth department where he served countless others. As a member of a local catering company, Brandon was able to serve countless others with smile, and promising to always to do his best while serving. His genuine love for others drove his unwavering determination to continue to inspire others to never give up on the pursuit of their dreams.

With Brandon Dwight Blue’s untimely death in 2003, his family and friends bonded closer together. It was through this bond that both Brandon’s family and friends chose to continue to inspire and help others as Brandon would have done himself.
